

Buckskin Pouches: Patterns for three sizes of pouch

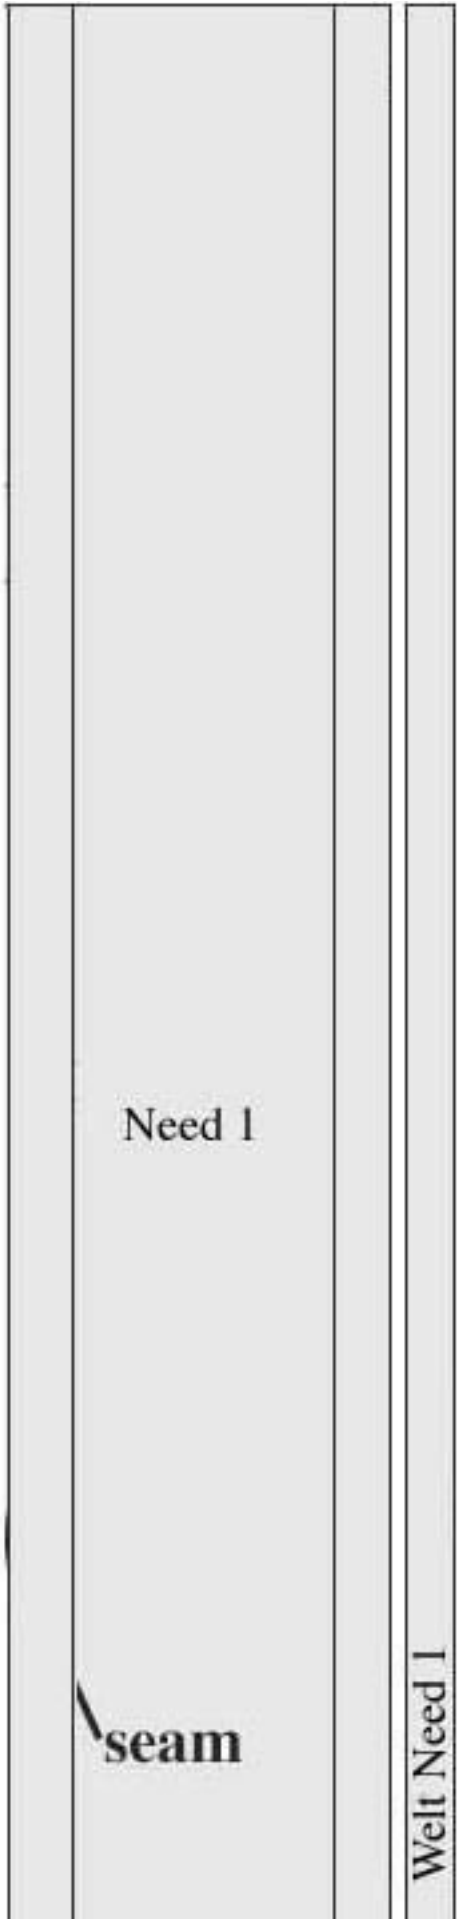

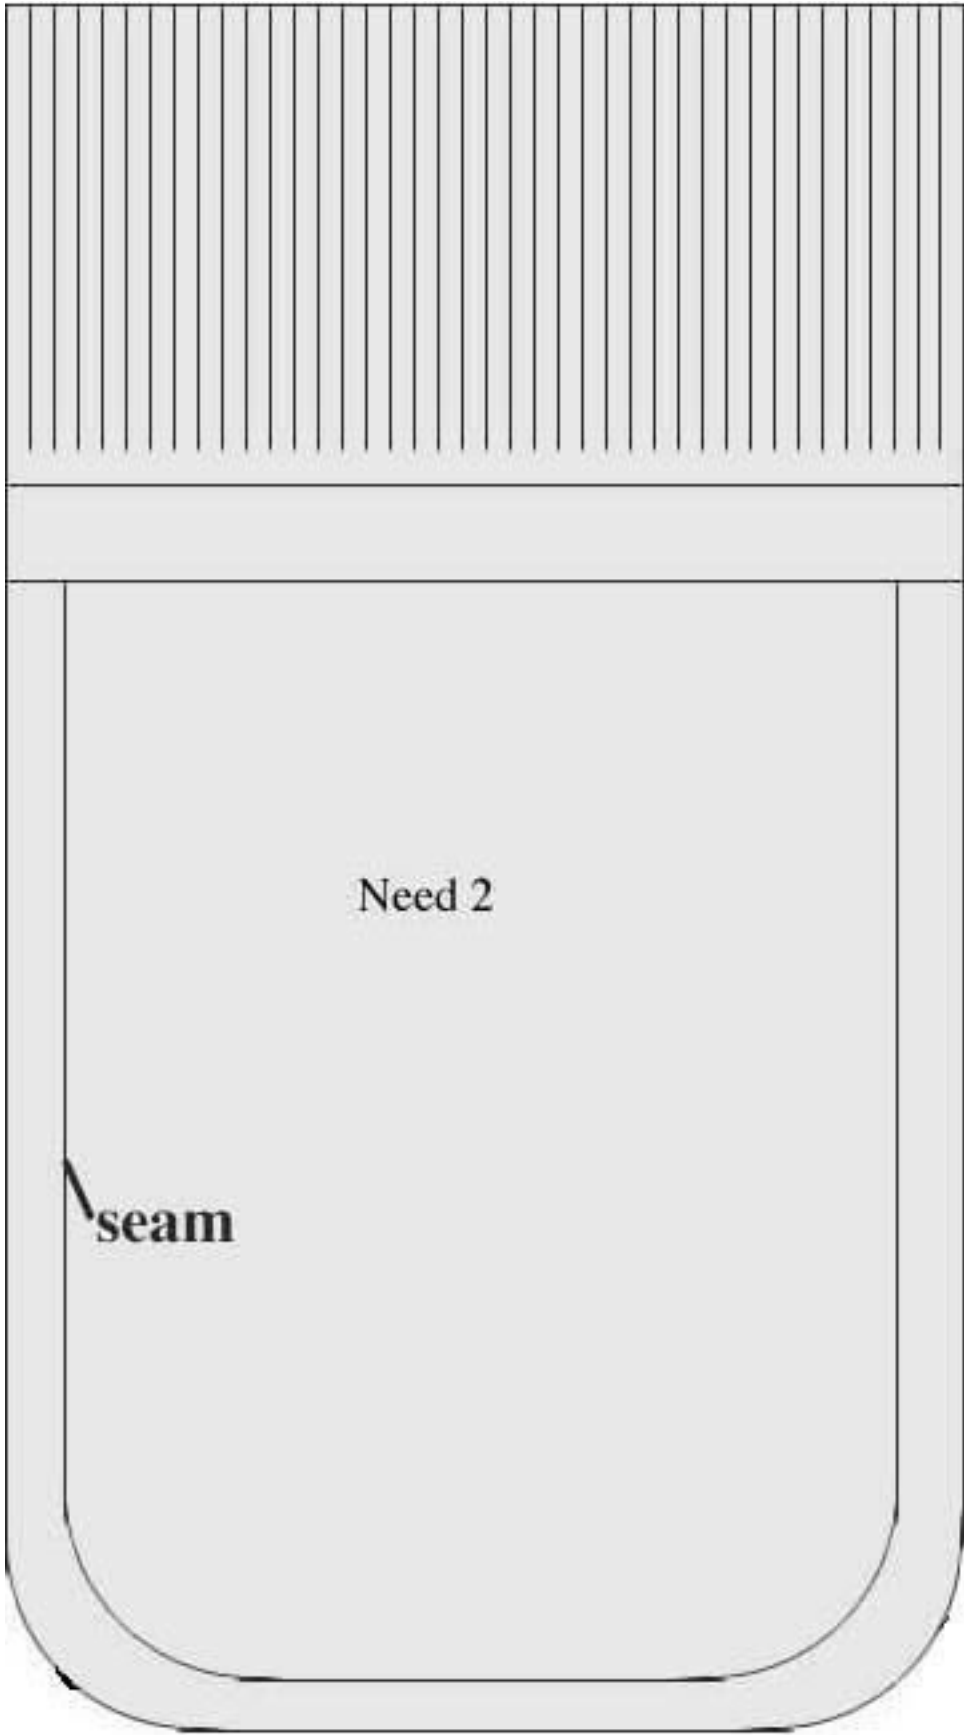

The three pieces of the pattern look like these small examples shown above, printed on three separate sheets of paper..

Here's how to glue the three pieces together to make the entire pattern:

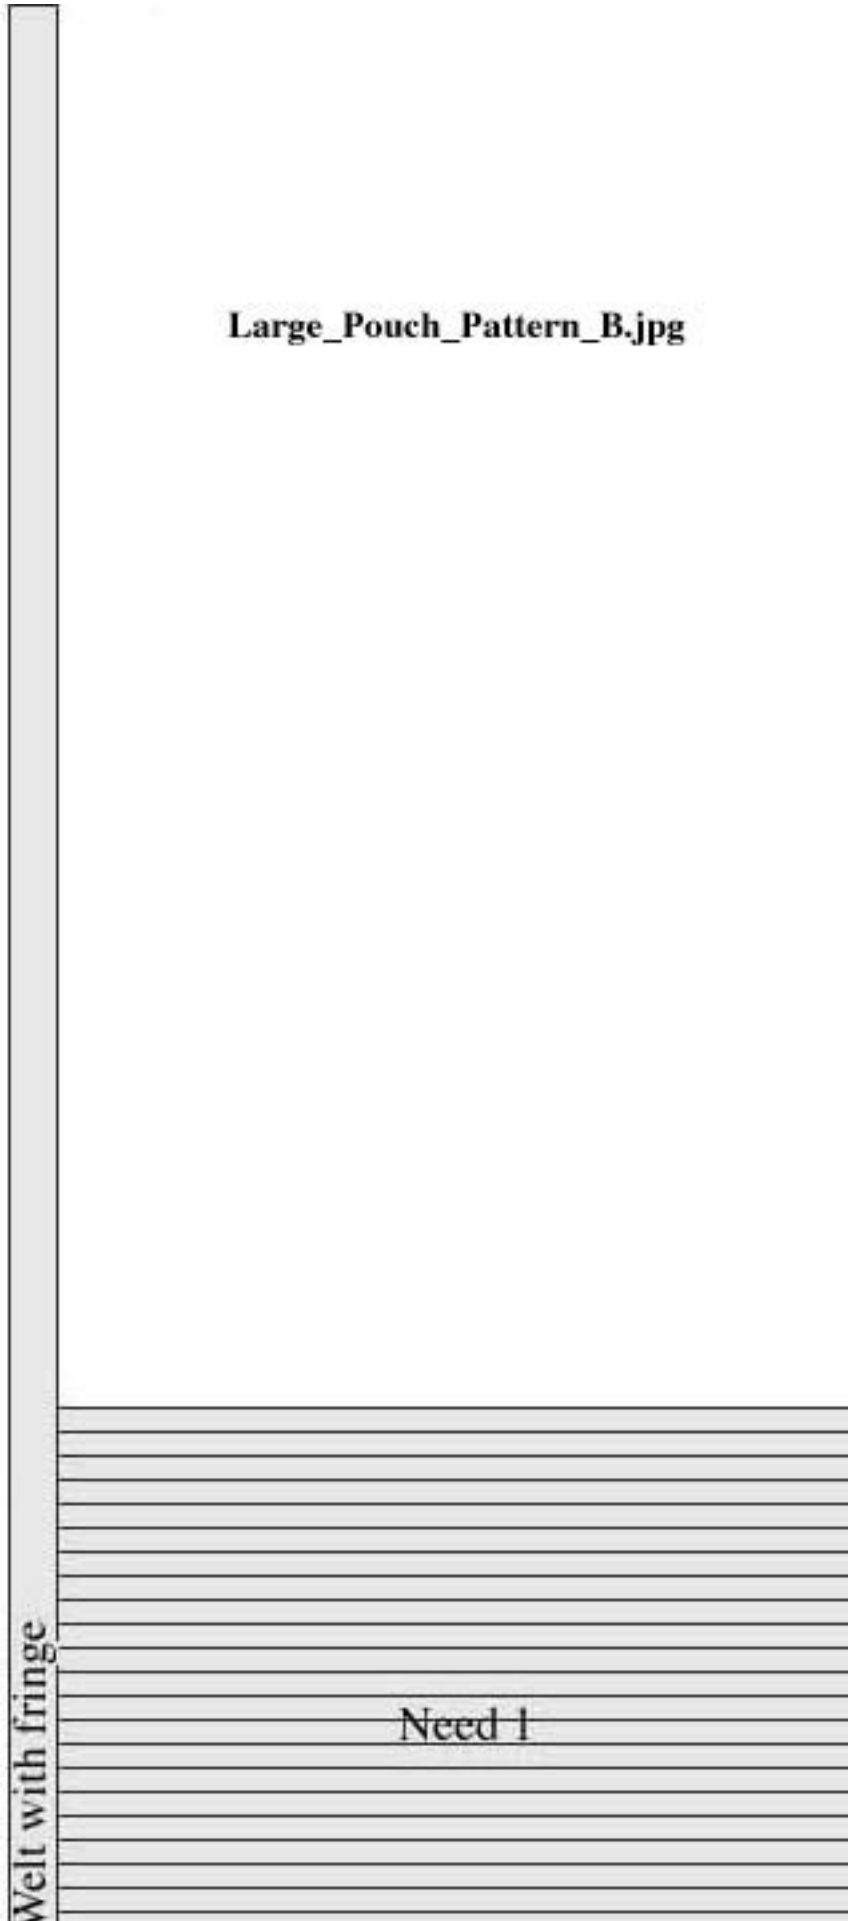

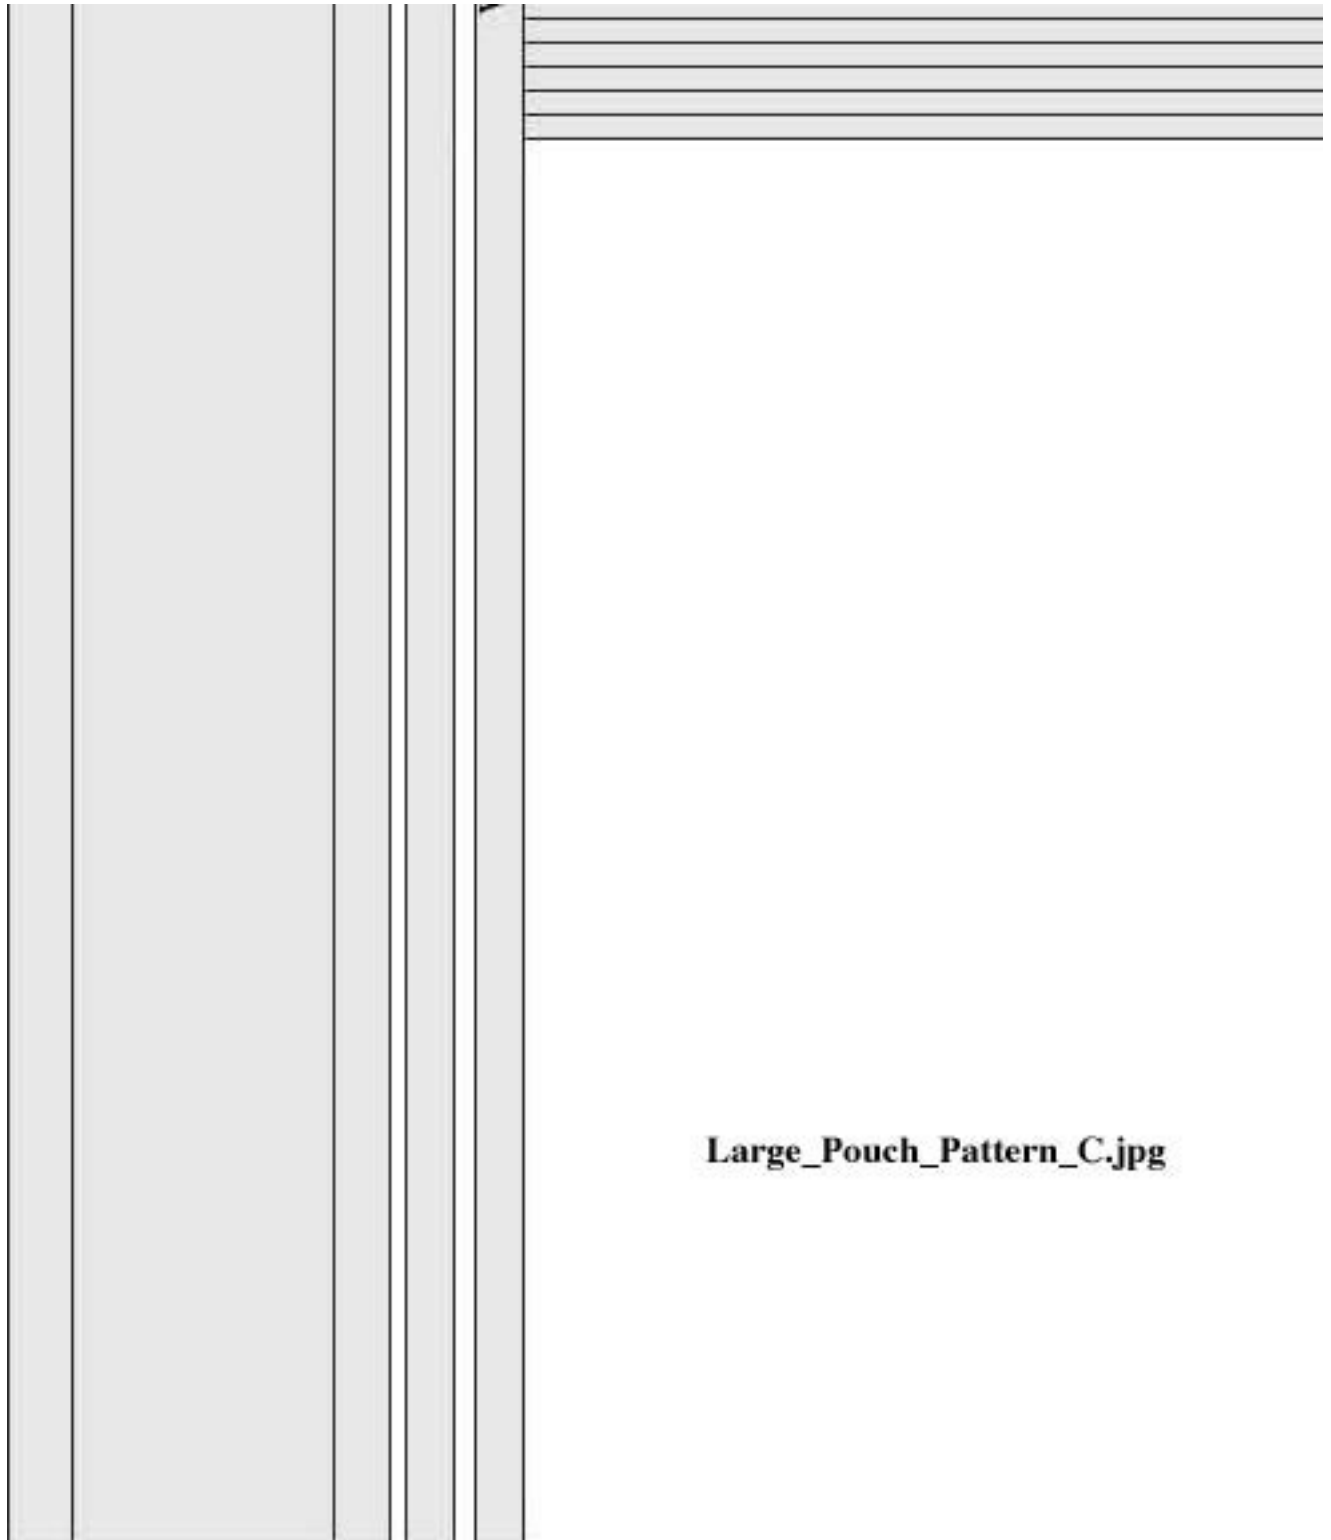

Gluing sequence for the full sized pouch. Print the A, B and C portions, glue together, glue to cardboard, then cut each of the patterns out.

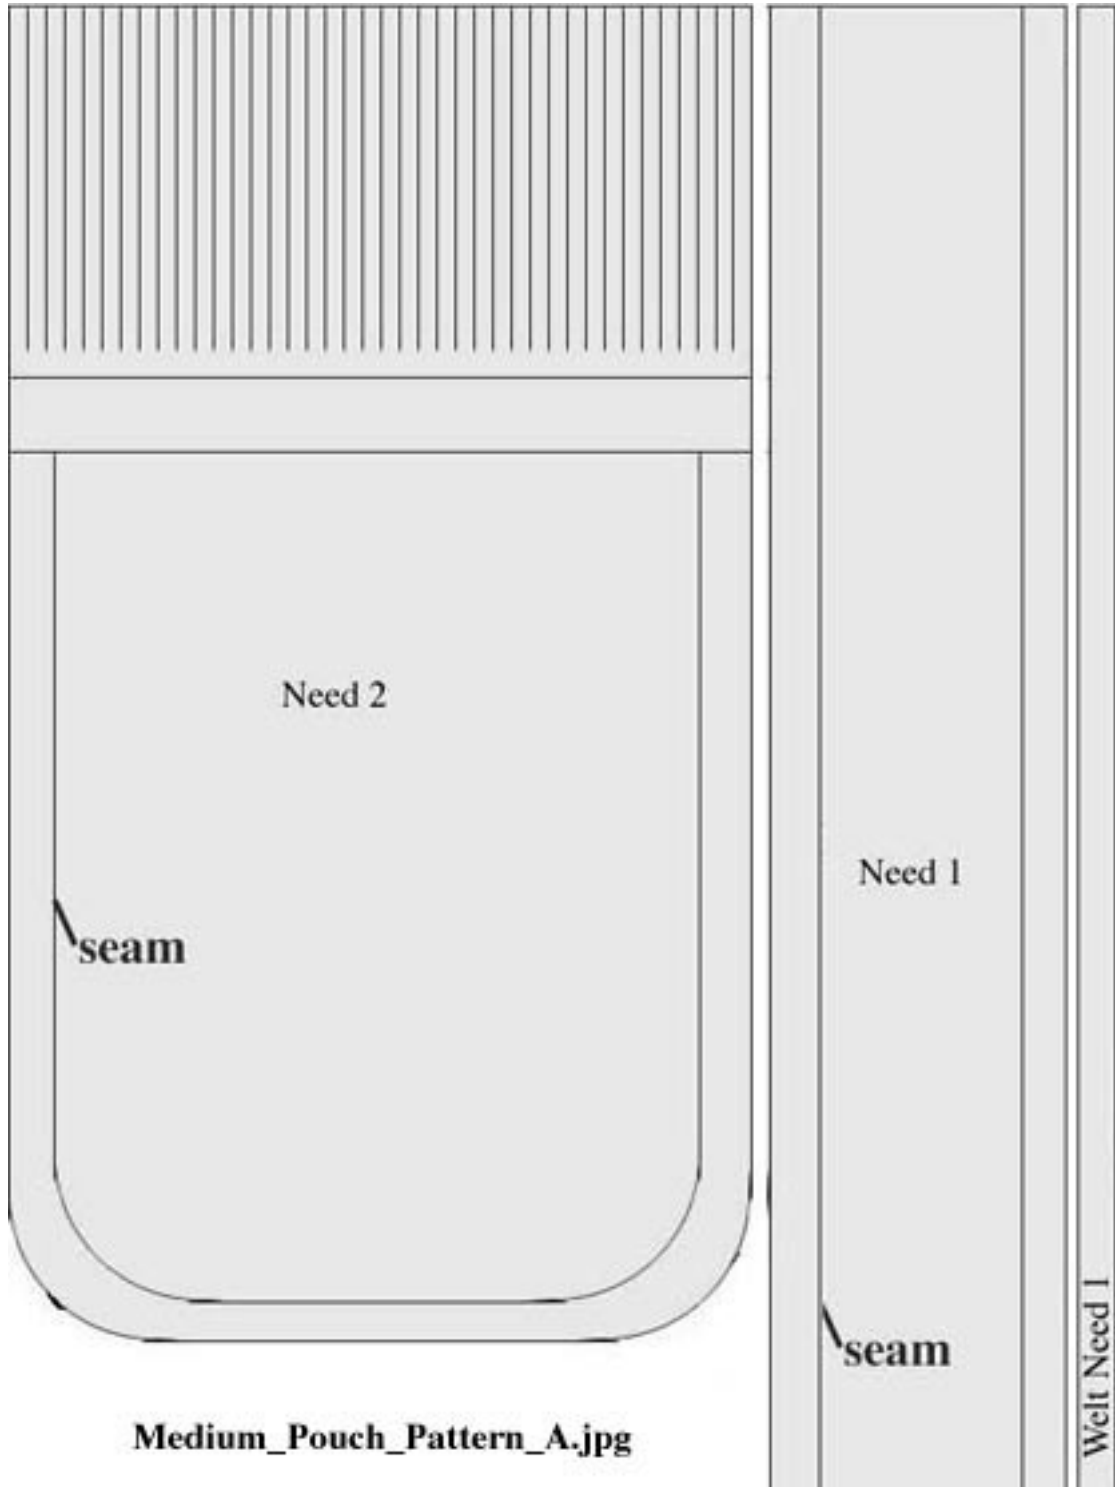

Large_Pouch_Pattern_A.jpg

Large_Pouch_Pattern_B.jpg

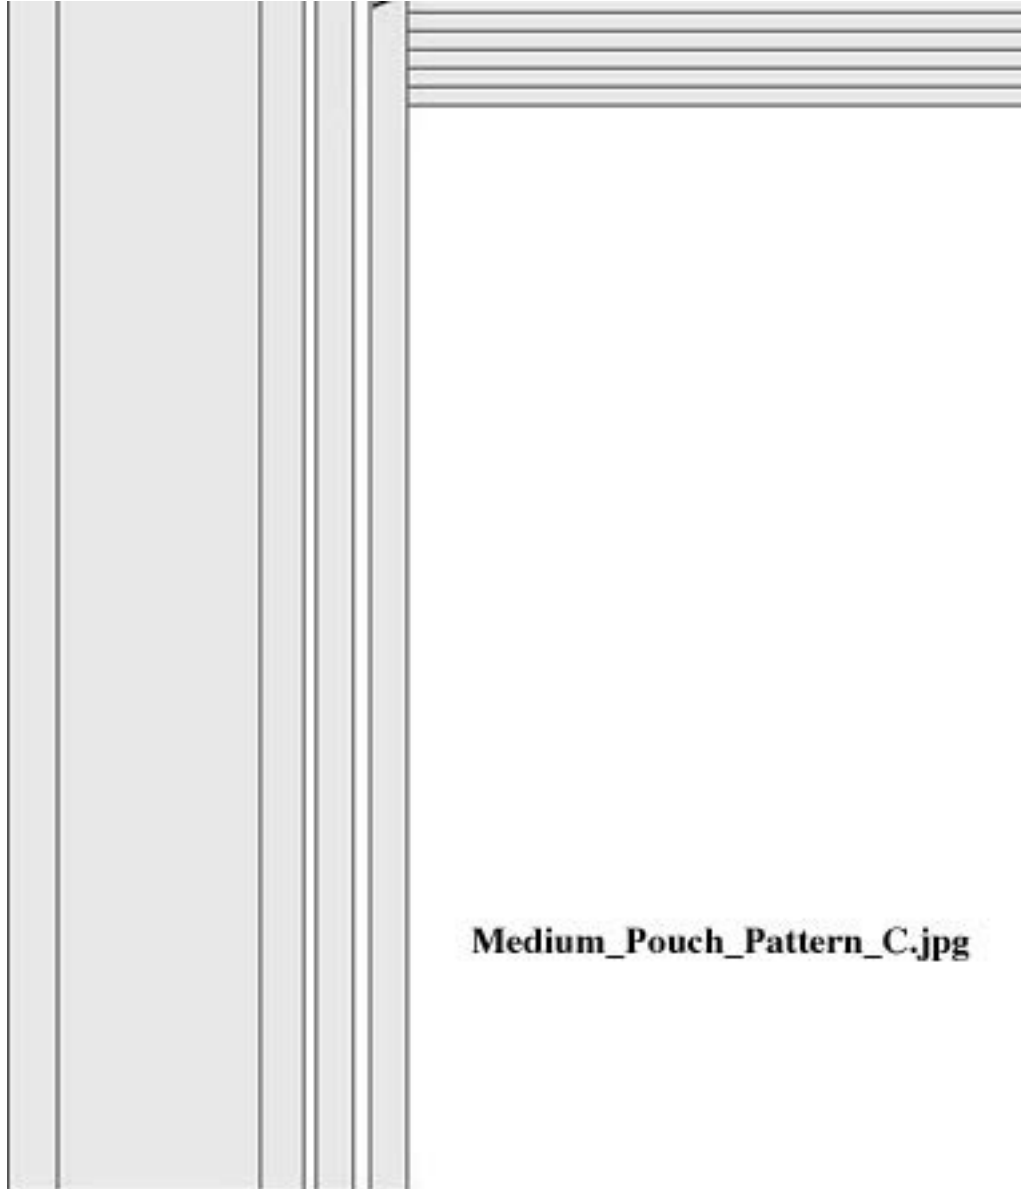

Large_Pouch_Pattern_C.jpg

Medium_Pouch_Pattern_C.jpg

Here's the pattern for the medicine pouch. Made somewhat like the buckskin pouches shown before this section, the medicine pouch has only three major parts. They are a front and back, and a combination welt and fringe piece. This pattern prints out on a single sheet of paper, and uses very little leather.

